Ready for Work

In 2015, VPP launched Ready for Work. Ready for Work: Champions for Career and College Ready Graduates in Prince George's County is a six-year, $15 million investment to help young people in Prince George's County successfully transition to adulthood career and college ready.

In partnership with County Government, the school system, employers, nonprofits and philanthropy, Ready for Work is being implemented in three Transforming Neighborhood Initiative high schools: Suitland, High Point, and Oxon Hill.

Ready for Work is a three-part strategy:

- I. Career Academies. Increase number of graduates possessing the academic and technical skills enabling them to be career and college ready for the County's growth industries by strengthening and expanding access to career and technical education.
- II. youthCONNECT Model. Increase number of graduates possessing the foundational life skills enabling them to be successful employees in the County's growth industries by integrating place-based networks of youth-serving nonprofits into the RfW high schools.
- III. Work Experience. Increase number of students receiving direct work experiences (e.g., internships, job shadowing, and apprenticeships) before they graduate.

Building Trust Through Strategic Assistance

As a strategic advisor, VPP and Fair Chance work with the leadership of each nonprofit organization (e.g., executive and senior management, board) to:

- Raise expectations and understanding of what’s needed to achieve their aspirations.
- Create and maintain unrelenting focus on the key strategic issues related to the organization’s success and growth.
- Assist getting the “right people on the bus” to reach strategic objectives.
- Support results-oriented culture – focused on accountability and transparency – to achieve greater impact.
- Establish and maintain relationship of mutual respect and trust.

Building Trust Through Performance Assessment

VPP and Fair Chance work with the nonprofit organizations to assess performance and hold the organizations accountable for results. Funding is contingent upon achievement of mutually agreed upon milestones and performance against those targets – which is monitored through a set review processes.

- Weekly meetings with capacity building specialist on items in the individualized workplans
- Quarterly Review of performance on the workplans with Fair Chance
- Monthly meetings between Fair Chance and VPP about organization's progress on the workplans
- Quarterly Review of performance on Fair Chance's milestones with VPP
- Annual Review

Annual Review Process to:

- Assess past performance to milestones and set annual milestones/goals for the ensuing year.
- Review performance against aspiration and refine milestones (if necessary).
- Update due diligence (if necessary).
- Gain approval of the VPP Executive Committee for continuation.
- Negotiate and execute Continuation Agreement (including funding and milestones).
