BACKGROUND INFORMATION/FISCAL IMPACT:

The County Disparity Study, done in 2019, recommends utilizing a combination of racially neutral and narrowly tailored racially conscious policy measures to reduce disparities in economic opportunities for minority and women owned firms doing business in Prince George's County. This legislation aims to utilize private sector spending to address these disparities. Private sector spending with businesses based in Prince George's County, especially those with majority ownership by County residents, promotes the local circulation of legacy wealth within communities in the County, creating positive improvements to Prince George's County's business tax base by the increasing the ability to invest in important public priorities like public education, public roads and transit services, public safety, and services for seniors and veterans, while reducing the need to burden residential property taxes for such services.
