BRIEFING ON REGIONAL GOVERNANCE

David C. Harrington, President & CEO Prince George's Chamber of Commerce
Earl Adams, Jr., Esquire, Chairman, Blue Ribbon Commission on Addressing Prince George's County's Structural Deficit
Camille A. Exum, Former Chairman, Charter Review Commission

The briefing commenced at 1:20 p.m. Chairman Davis introduced the members of the panel and acknowledged John Tabori, former Mayor of the Town of University Park, present in the audience. He announced that Camille Exum was unable to attend due to a family emergency. Mr. Adams spoke to the efforts of the Blue Ribbon Commission on Addressing the Structural Deficit and their observations regarding Charter issues such as the Tax Reform Initiative for Marylanders (TRIM) and term-limits, which hinder the County's competitiveness in the region. He noted that these "limitations" are problematic for Prince George's County and gave examples of regional approaches such as at-large Council seats. Mr. Harrington echoed the points raised by Mr. Adams on the regional impacts of the "limitations" identified and suggested that the complexity of issues during these times warrants a restructuring of the government to address this. Robert Williams, Jr., Council Administrator, responded to questions regarding the Charter Review Commission. Ms. Pugh spoke to the limitations of the Charter Review Commission and the need for additional time to deliberate and to articulate their recommendations to the public. She also spoke to the issues of term-limitations and at-large Council seats. Council Member Harrison spoke to regional and national observations that have been made about the County's governance structure during her service to the County as a civic activist, Council staff member and one of the longer serving Council Members. Council Member Turner spoke to his experiences as a member of regional transportation boards as a municipal leader, Council staff member and now Council Member, noting that long-service and seniority are important regionally. Mr. Harrington spoke to potential skepticism that may be expected as part of the discussion noting that the County deserves the best representation possible and restructuring will lead to competent, strong and experienced leadership. The briefing concluded at 2:10 p.m.
